RASH HOPE,

A Song taken from the Novel of

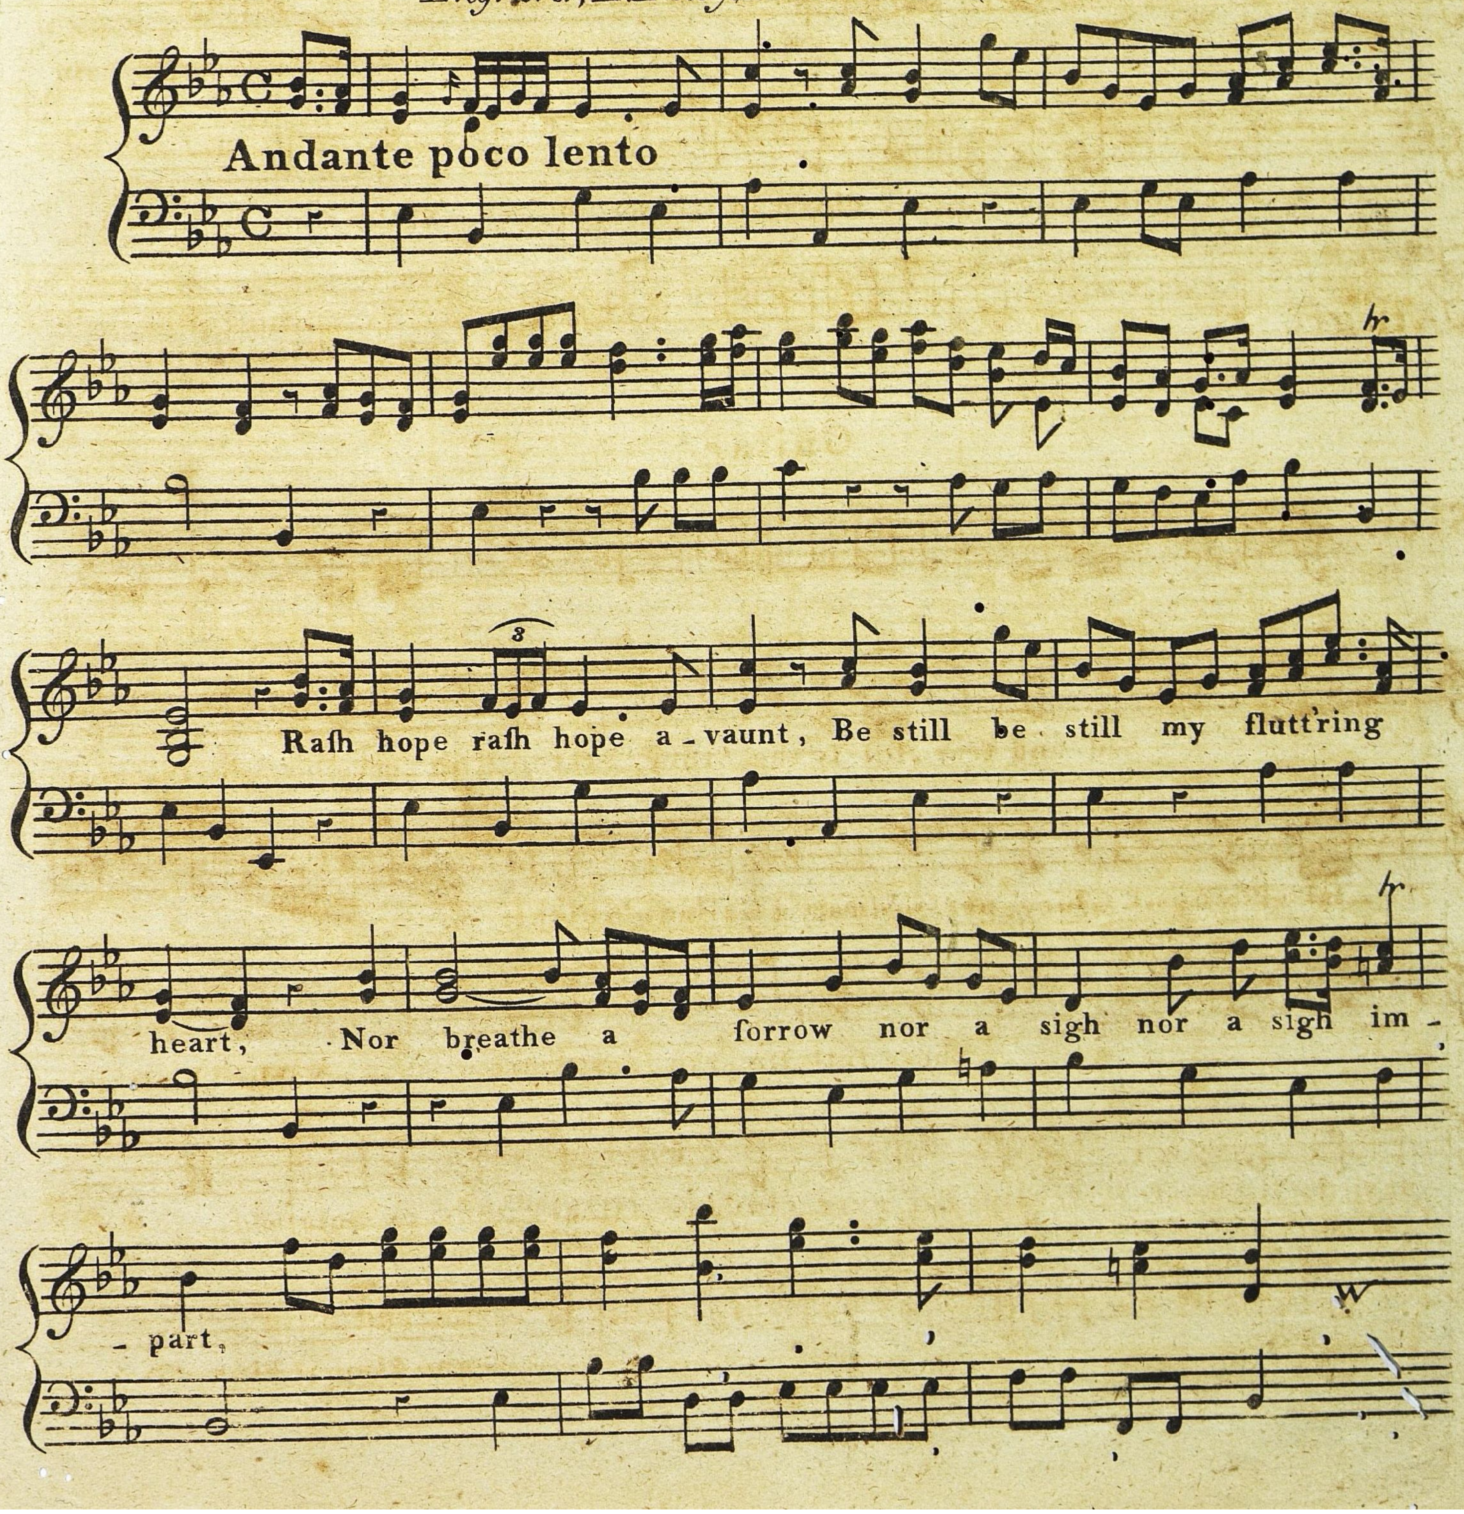
ANNA St. IVES,

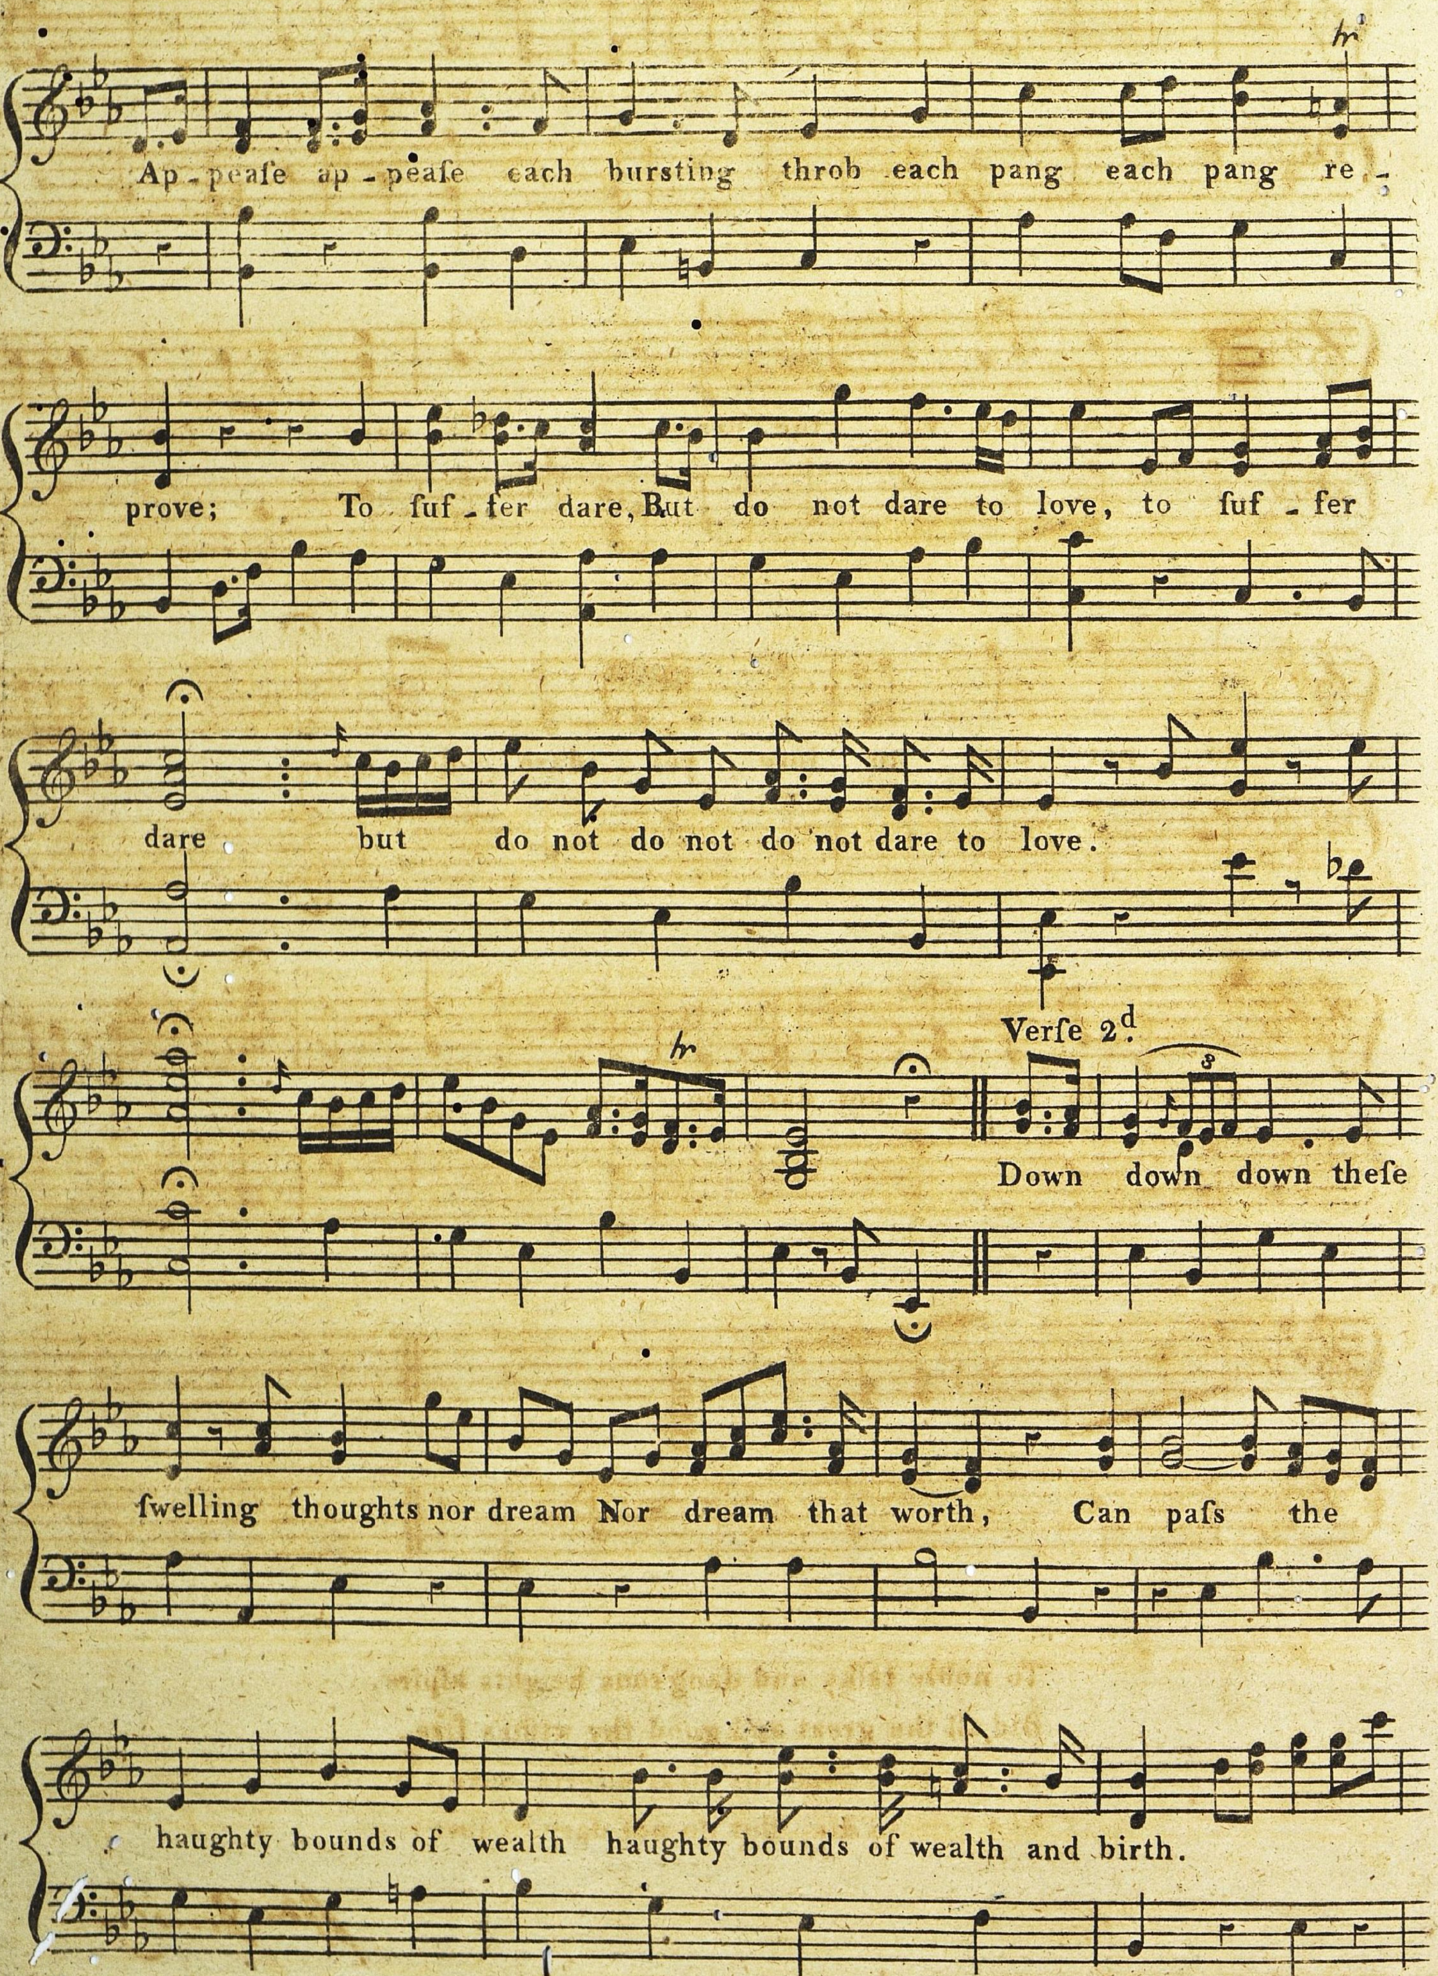
Composed by

Wm. DINSLEY.

Pr. 1s.

London. Printed for the Author, by Rt. Birchall, 133 Bond Street, & may be had of the Engraver, E. Riley, 8 Strand.





Ap - peaſe ap - peaſe each burſting throb each pang each pang re - prove; To ſuf - fer dare, But do not dare to love, to ſuf - fer dare but do not do not do not dare to love.
Verſe 2d.
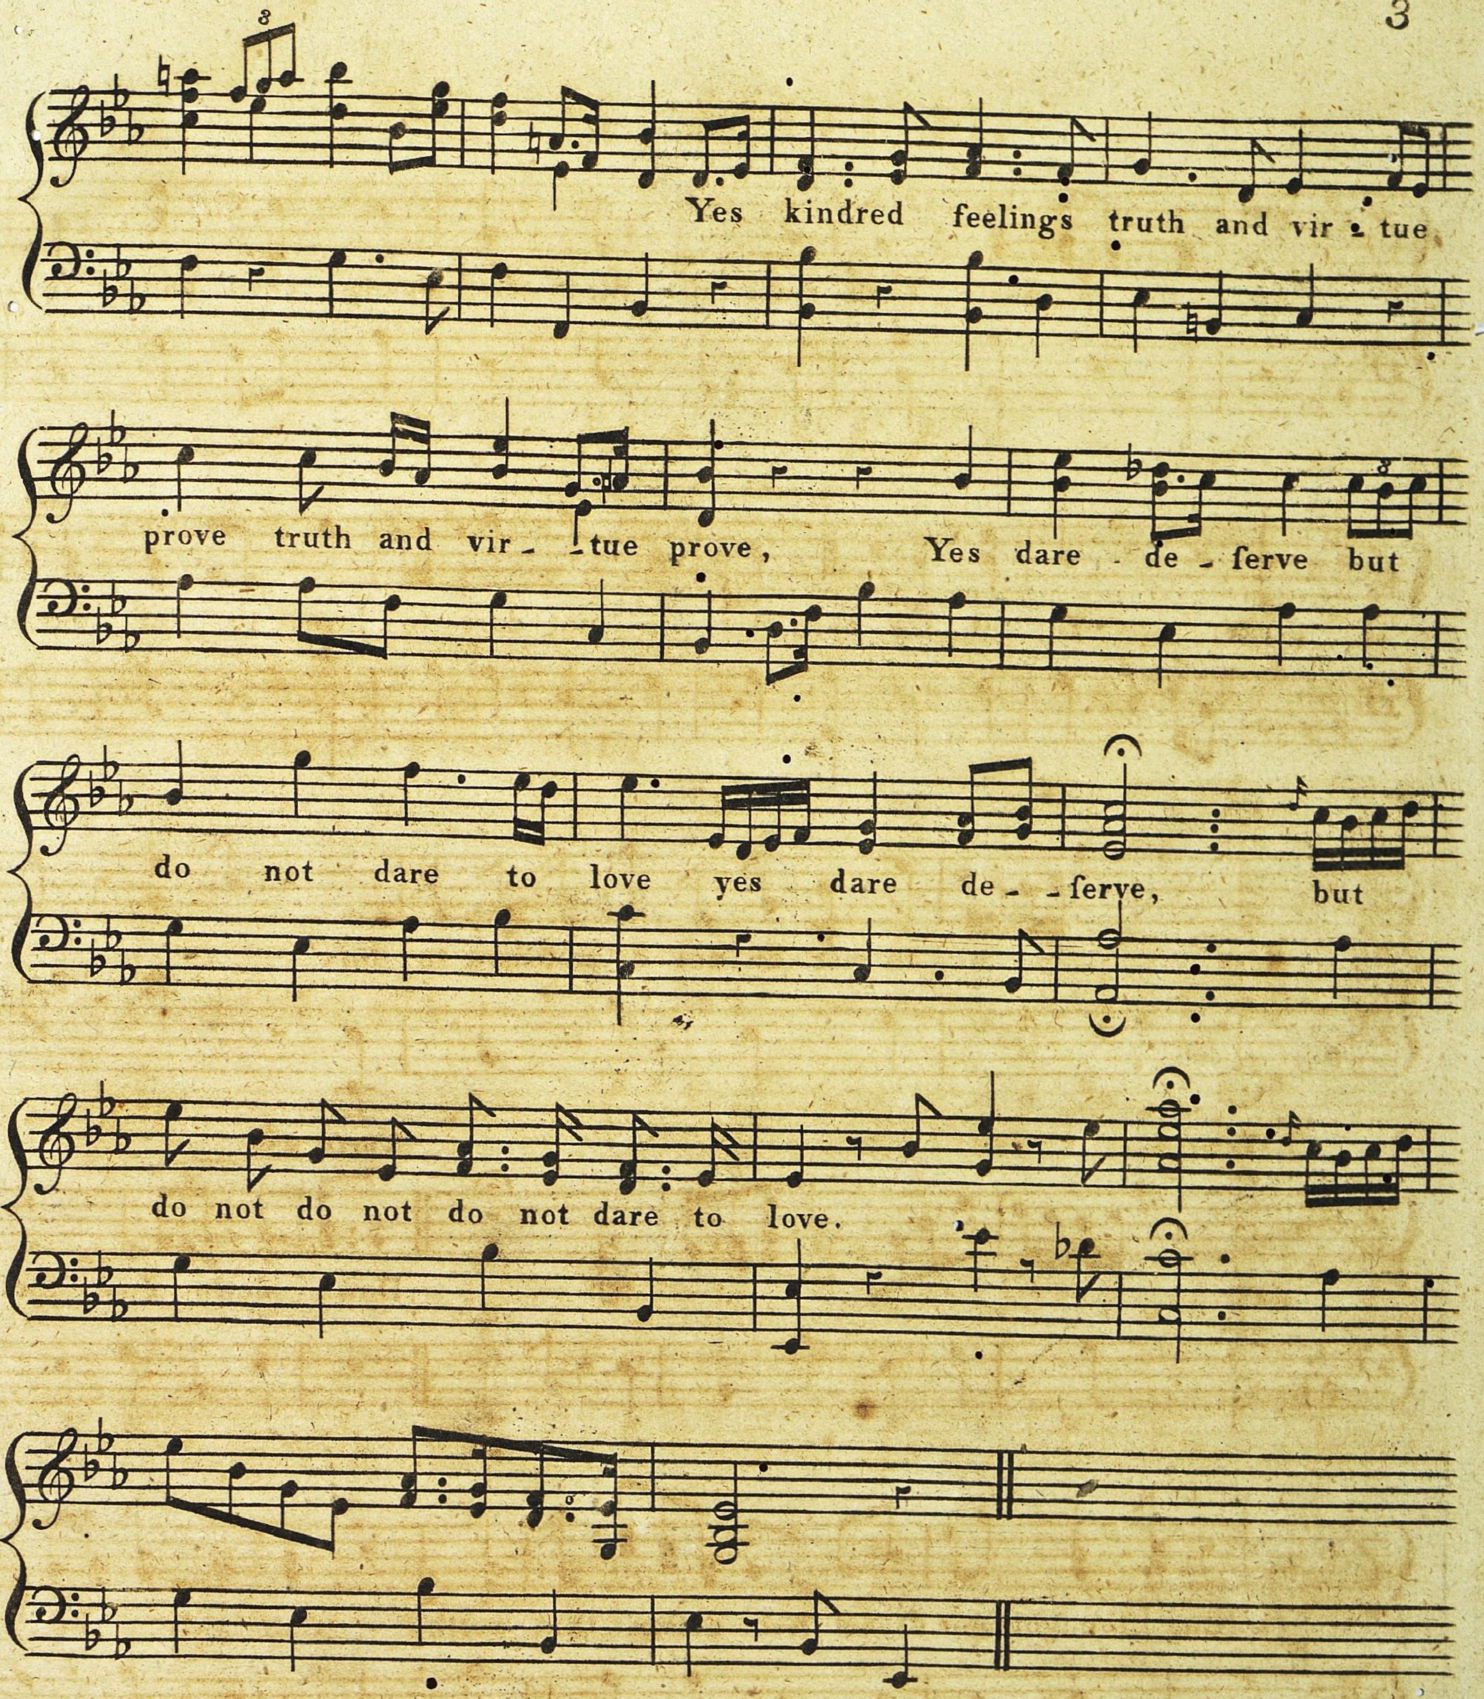
Down down down theſe ſwelling thoughts nor dream Nor dream that worth, Can paſs the haughty bounds of wealth haughty bounds of wealth and birth.



To noble tafks and dang'rous heights afpire,
Bid all the great and good thy wifhes fire,
The mighty dead thy rival efforts move,
And dare to die But do not dare to love.